RED CARD FOR KIDS' SPORTS

THE future of young people's sport in Thanet is looking grim, according to a youth football leader.

Pete Binding has been involved with Ramsgate Youth Football Club for years but says the standard of facilities on the island is falling, with children having to travel to Canterbury to take part in FA academies.

He says nowhere in Thanet has facilities good enough to host the necessary sessions.

A land swap at Jackey Bakers sports ground was also slammed by Mr Binding, who thinks footballers and their teams have been short-changed by the deal.

A chunk of the ground has been earmarked for a new road to alleviate congestion in the Westwood area, with building due to start in the next few weeks, although the council says it has acquired land to re-lay two pitches on.

However, Mr Binding says clubs will struggle to find pitches as the council has exchanged two full-size ones for a piece of scrubland which is not suitable for laying pitches.

He claims hundreds of youngsters will either be shunted around or could have nowhere to play at all.

He said: "We have 20 youth teams as part of Ramsgate FC alone and use Jackey Bakers a great deal.

"We're going to lose two full-size pitches and on the original plan we were supposed to get them back, but it's become apparent that the part of the land we were going to get in

MP Ladyman blasts 'KCC's vanity project'

■ BY TOM BETTS

THANET SOUTH MP Steve Ladyman has launched a scathing attack on the county council's online TV project.

Speaking in London, Dr Ladyman described Kent TV as a "vanity project" paid for at the expense of Kent's elderly.

The MP brought up the subject in the House of Commons, asking the Leader of the House: "Is my Rt Hon Friend aware that Kent County Council have just spent £600,000 setting up a TV channel of its own while at the same time putting up home-care charges for older people in order to raise £600,000?"

"There is no better supporter of the principle of devolving responsibility for local matters to local councils than me, but shouldn't the House have a debate to allow us to expose the way that Tory councils like KCC abuse that power?"

He later added: "KCC have demonstrated crass insensitivity. They constantly tell us they are short of money, but the reality is they find money to employ more PR people than 10 Downing Street, to pay their top officers more than the Prime Minister, and to pay for vanity projects like a TV channel."

"Older people are paying for KCC's vanity and it's not right."

Kent TV is operated by Ten Alps,

ANGRY: Thanet South MP Steve Ladyman

Bob Geldof's media company, and was launched in September.

Alex King, KCC cabinet member for policy and performance, said: "Kent TV is a different thing to domicile care. We are keeping our social care costs down and it's a pure coincidence the figures are the same."

"Kent TV is a private project to create a channel that will provide better information for both Kent residents and non-Kent residents."

"From a tourism point of view it showcases the county all around the world. We are trying to provide a public service."

KOS Media, the publisher of Yourthanet and www.kentnews.co.uk, provides free-of-charge news headlines for the council's TV website, which link to stories on our website.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Drunk is banned from every pub in Thanet

AN ALCOHOLIC thug who head-butted a pub landlord could go to jail for six months if he gets into trouble during the next year.

Sam Cartledge, 21, of Buckingham Road, Margate, will be under supervision for a year, have to attend a nine-month managing alcohol course, do 200 hours' community work, and pay landlord Glyn Nichols £500 compensation.

He will also have to pay £60 court costs and has been banned from every pub in Thanet.

Thanet magistrates heard that Cartledge was in The Rose Inn, Broadstairs, with his father when trouble erupted.

Theresa Ruiz, prosecuting, said: "The defendant's father was abusing bar staff and was asked to leave by Mr Nichols. As he tried to usher them out, the defendant butted Mr Nichols."

"He had to be restrained by two customers. As a result of this unprovoked attack, Mr Nicholls had swelling to his eyes and nose, a cut at the bridge of his nose and repeated headaches."

"It spoiled Mr Nichols's annual holiday, which he was due to start the following day."

Ashley Mayes, defending, said that Cartledge deeply regretted what he had done.

Did you see attack?

POLICE are asking anyone who saw an assault that left a man with a broken jaw to come forward.

A 22-year-old Margate man was taken to the QEQM hospital after he was punched at the junction of Grosvenor Place and Eaton Road on October 14.

Anyone with information should phone PC Lynne Short on 01843 222084.

exchange isn't suitable for laying them. As a football club we're finding there's a shortage of pitches. We're anticipating that over the next couple of years we're going to need more pitches, not less."

He added: "We're lucky. Ramsgate's a big club and we've made great contacts with the council over the years so we get a sort of priority booking on Jackey Bakers for the youth matches, but a number of other clubs don't get that and are having trouble booking pitches."

"So other teams are just as annoyed about it as we are, everyone is struggling to get pitches."

"We're all fighting over a dwindling pool of resources."

A Thanet council spokesman, said: "A land swap is taking place at Jackey Bakers. While the shape of Jackey Bakers will change, there will be no loss of pitches."

"Although part of the site is being taken up by the new road, the council has acquired a field and scrubland to the northern side of Jackey Bakers of roughly the same size."

"There is sufficient funding to convert this field into pitches and we will ensure the same standard is maintained as exists at present."

Isle be damned: pastor foresees troubles ahead

Disasters on way, warns minister

AN EARTHQUAKE in Broadstairs, floods in Margate, crumbling cliffs... Thanet is going to be a highly dangerous place to live, according to a self-proclaimed prophet.

Joseph Johnes is the pastor of his own ministry, the Ministry of Lord Jesus, and says he has been having revelatory visions about everything from the Madeleine McCann abduction case to the recent troubles in Burma.

Thanet, he warns, is in danger because it's an "important place".

Mr Johnes, 49, told Yourthanet that he sees important things unfolding while praying in his Newington home and that Jesus visits him in person to impart wisdom and warn him of important events.

He points to October 6, 2006, as one such instance and has produced his own documents detailing how Satan threw "a net of evil over Europe" around that time.

■ BY TOM BETTS

And on the morning of January 3 this year, Mr Johnes had a vision involving an earthquake that will strike Broadstairs. In it, buildings will collapse and people will die.

More recently, Mr Johnes had two visions of cliffs cracking and earthquakes striking the island.

He also says he predicted this year's flooding in Ramsgate High Street, detailing his vision in a diary and showing his friends the next day.

"They were very, very surprised," he said.

Premonitions

Margate, meanwhile, is due a great flood spilling over the sea defences, according to Mr Johnes.

The pastor and his family settled in Ramsgate in 2000 by way of Broadstairs, Bielefeld in Germany and Tamil Nadu, India, where he was born.

But it was in Thanet that he started to see premonitions – and they were so strong that he documented them using Microsoft Word and the programme's ClipArt function.

Mr Johnes sees the visions shortly after he has prayed or during prayer – they come to him as if he is watching television.

After probably his most accurate vision – it came last year and showed trouble in Burma – he wrote to the United Nations to voice his fears for the region.

Of the Madeleine McCann investigation, he said: "Her father is the important one here. I have been praying for them both."

Mr Johnes says he finds it hard to put exact dates to his visions and is even unsure why he has been chosen to receive the images.

"I don't know why I have these visions, but I know it is all planned for me," he said. "I think it is because I have given up my life for the Lord."

"The things I see are usually in Thanet. It is a blessed place."

PROPHET: Mr Johnes is pastor of his own ministry, the Ministry of Lord Jesus

Lulu's top dog

YEARS of charity endeavours and work as a Pets as Therapy animal have led to an Outstanding Achievement award for MP Roger Gale's dog.

Lulu, the MP's eight-and-a-half-stone Newfoundlander, got her paws on the honour at last week's Westminster Dog of the Year awards.

Five-year-old Lulu has previously won the Dog of the Year title at the awards.

The Thanet North MP said: "I think it is a mark of the affection in which she is held by the foremost national organisations that they have seen fit to recognise the work of a remarkable animal in this way."

Westwood makes eco groups cross

BOSSES at Westwood Cross have got the Christmas decorations up early, a move that has sparked criticism from environmental groups.

The festive lights will hang above the walkways at the shopping centre a full 38 days before Christmas Day.

The big switch-on takes place on Saturday, November 17, after Santa Claus has paid his first visit to a Debenhams grotto at the shopping centre.

However, it may not be jingle all the way as the early start to the festivities has been attacked by environmental groups such as Friends of the Earth.

Patrick Jarman and his brother Will are the group's Thanet co-ordinators.

Patrick said: "Why is it that Westwood Cross have announced such an early switch-on date for their Christmas lights – isn't this just irresponsible behaviour?"

"This is at a time when governments throughout the world are looking for big business to set the example in attempts to curb the acceleration of climate change."

"What is the need for us to see these energy-hungry decorations so early, and why are the owners of Westwood Cross not looking at ways to decrease this consumption via readily available green technologies?"

However, the shopping centre's manager David Cross said efforts were being made to reduce energy consumption.

"We are committed to reducing our carbon footprint," he said.

"Fortunately we have been able to select many LED lights for our displays this year which have a far lower electricity consumption than the traditional standard filament variety."

"Christmas is about fun and entertainment for our customers, and displays of lights are established as a traditional part of those festivities."

"However, the Westwood Cross team is constantly reviewing and evaluating the environmental impact of all of its services and we always welcome suggestions."

The Green Party's Mark Roe said: "November 17 is too early. There are other ways of celebrating Christmas other than with lights. You don't need to rack up the electricity meter to celebrate."

Smoking taxi drivers fined

TWO drivers have been fined for smoking in their work vehicles.

They are the first people to receive the £50 fixed penalty under new legislation.

The first incident occurred when a man was spotted smoking at the wheel in Westgate at about 8.30pm on Friday, October 19. The second person was caught in a vehicle in Staffordshire Street car park in Ramsgate.

Both were private hire vehicle drivers and the fine is reduced to £30 if it is paid off in 15 days.

No action will be taken against the firms for whom the drivers work.

Cllr Jo Gideon, cabinet member for health and communities, said: "Hopefully this will serve as a warning, not just to the drivers of private hire vehicles, but to businesses and everyone who uses a business vehicle that smoking in a smoke-free place will not be tolerated."

Extra security for allotments

SECURITY at allotments is to be stepped up in the war on vandalism.

Fencing to keep out yobs will be installed as part of a three-year £750,000 programme of improvements.

The work will be funded through the sale of allotment land at the Manston Road site in Ramsgate.

Allotments in Chilton Lane, Margate Road and Jackey Bakers in Ramsgate and Vere Road, Cecilia Road, Norman Road and Prospect Road in Broadstairs will all get new fences.

The measures were requested by allotment holders during talks with Thanet council.

The writing's on the wall (or maybe not)

GRAFFITI on the island is sapping so many public resources that there are increasing calls for a dedicated wall to help combat the problem.

Tackling graffiti, in particular tagging, has cost Thanet council £29,500 this financial year alone.

Workers employed by the council have already removed graffiti from some 650 sites.

The idea of a 'taggers' wall was put forward at this month's unveiling of David Chipperfield's design for the Turner Contemporary, when a member of the public asked the panel if they thought one should be included in the plans.

The questioner said: "Many of the young people in this area have very little to do and have been expressing themselves through graffiti."

"It may not seem artistic all the time, but nevertheless it's their way of expressing themselves."

■ BY TOM BETTS

Her question was met with an impromptu round of applause.

Victoria Pomery, director of Turner Contemporary, said: "On the issue of giving people a wall, then if we do, they won't want to use that wall."

Video clip website YouTube hosts many clips showcasing Thanet's graffiti, while tagging in places such as the car park near Arlington House and in public toilets is rife.

Although she would not go as far as to back a graffiti wall at the Turner Contemporary, Iris Johnston, who is Thanet councillor for Central Margate, has seen the positive effects such schemes can have.

"At the Sure Start centre on the Millmead estate the children engaged in a supervised graffiti project and did a brilliant job painting the hoardings led by a graffiti artist," she said.

"Young people who want to draw need some scope to express themselves and although it might not be suitable at the Turner – I'm not sure that site would lend itself to that – there are other places in Thanet that might be suitable."

Miss Pomery also pointed to the work that Turner Contemporary was doing to engage with Thanet's youth.

Students from King Ethelbert School in Birchington had been among those to visit the studios of Mr Chipperfield and were taking part in an Inspiring Spaces project.

She said: "We work with a lot of young people already and those who have seen our programmes develop over the last few years will be aware of that. We have run a lot of drop-in workshops where young people can express themselves through art projects."

"I'd like to think a lot of the time we are working closely with young people. Yes, we have a long way to go, but it's about how we are doing it and how we develop our relationships with them."

BLAST THAT SHOOK TOWN

This was the dramatic moment that Navy bomb teams detonated a German GC mine off the coast of Palm Bay, Margate.

This image, released exclusively to Yourthanet this week, shows a water plume reckoned by the Navy team to be about 100ft high and 50ft wide.

The World War Two ordnance, which carries 1,500lb of explosives, was dredged up by two fishermen from Whitstable who trapped it in their nets while fishing for southern skate two weeks ago.

The pair lowered the mine back into the depths and left a marker for a four-man team which was despatched the following morning from the Royal Naval Bomb Disposal Unit in Portsmouth.

They set a counter charge in 18 metres of water and the resulting blast was felt up to two miles away.

Les Manning, Margate lifeboat's head launcher, saw the explosion. "It didn't half go whoomp!" he told Yourthanet.

PETITION: Violet Avenue residents are afraid that it won't be long until someone is hurt on their road

Is short cut a fast lane to injury?

RESIDENTS of a Ramsgate road that is being used as a short cut say it is only a matter of time before someone gets hurt.

Concerns over the traffic levels in Violet Avenue, Northwood, have prompted the road's residents to start a petition in the hope that it will make the authorities address the problem.

Local MP Stephen Ladyman handed the petition to the county council's highways department more than a month ago on their behalf.

The residents say the volume of traffic using Violet Avenue is making their lives a misery and that the once-quiet road has become increasingly busy due to vehicles using it as a short cut to nearby industrial estates, schools, retail parks and the Westwood Cross shopping centre.

Resident Serena Wood, said: "If nothing is done, someone is going to get killed. I've lived here for 20 years, but it's getting ridiculous now.

"I have two grandchildren and I'm petrified they'll get run over if this continues.

"Even workmen who have been in the street during the last few weeks have signed the petition because they agree that it's so dangerous."

■ BY TOM BETTS

Neighbour Elisa Keen added: "The traffic is horrendous. Westwood Cross has made it worse. I think we need the road blocking off at one end."

Northwood councillor Elizabeth Green said: "Traffic issues here are not being addressed. The problem is that the council keeps putting in developments without looking at the bigger picture.

"All three emergency services have told me they have problems getting through this area."

Cllr Green added that the proposal to also move Thanet College to Westwood "will create an awful lot of problems".

The county council's Phil Scrivener confirmed that the petition was received on Tuesday, September 27.

He said that Kent Highway Services had sent a letter of acknowledgment to Dr Ladyman the same day.

The petition is being investigated and will be presented to the next Thanet members meeting, which is due to take place in January next year.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Police question motorists after A2 death smash

THE search for information concerning the death of Julia White continues.

On Friday, police held road checks on the road where the Margate mother was killed in a crash on the A2 near Lydden a week before-hand.

The mother-of-five was a passenger in a red Ford Escort travelling towards Canterbury at the time of the accident on Friday, October 19, at about 7.50pm.

It is thought a lorry collided with the car, killing Mrs White and badly injuring her 18-year-old son, Mark, and a 22-year-old man known only as Jamie, who was driving. The pair remain in hospital.

The lorry left the scene without stopping, and police stopped more than 300 cars during checks, hoping to jog the memory of motorists who may have been on the road at the time.

Mrs White's ex-husband, Kevin White, has appealed for witnesses to come forward. He says he and the children are "desperate to find out who caused the accident".

Opportunist thief stole cases from unlocked van

DRUG addict Andrew Atkinson was tempted when he saw three plastic cases inside a parked van... so he took them.

But before 31-year-old Atkinson could find out what he had stolen from the unlocked van in Crescent Road, Ramsgate, he was spotted on CCTV and officers arrested him.

It was only at Margate police station that Atkinson discovered he had stolen a set of darts worth just £10.

Atkinson, of Elms Avenue, Ramsgate, was given a day in prison and ordered to pay £60 costs by Thanet magistrates.

Enjoy these birds but give them space

THANET'S coastline hosts internationally important populations of wading birds during the winter.

These are sanderlings and turnstones, and they inhabit rocks and beaches while they're free of holidaymakers. At least that's how it should be, but in recent years they have been present throughout the year rather than spending the summer in the arctic tundra.

It is feared that human disturbance is stopping the birds from feeding, leaving them too weak to make the long journey north.

Repeat drink-driver is facing three-year ban

LABOURER Robert Watts vowed to give up drinking after he was found at the wheel of a car having drunk five cans of beer.

He also promised to get a driving licence, but Thanet magistrates heard he fell off the wagon in spectacular circumstances – and he is now looking at a three-year driving ban.

Officers saw Watts, 22, pull up outside his home in Chichester Road, Ramsgate, at the wheel of a Ford Mondeo.

When they asked him for his licence he said: "No, Guv, I haven't got a licence. You might as well take the car away."

They breath-tested him and found he had 58 microgrammes of alcohol in 100 millilitres of his breath. The legal limit is 35 microgrammes of alcohol in 100 millilitres of breath.

Previously Watts had been banned for two years.

Scott Neilson, defending, said: "He knows he has been extremely stupid. He bought the car because he got work in Canterbury."

"He couldn't afford public transport, so he bought a car in complete disregard for the road traffic laws. He bitterly regrets what he has done because as a result he has lost his job."

"He went back to a friend's home and had five cans. Ironically the friend lives 10 minutes' walk away from his house."

The case was adjourned until November 16 for probation reports to be prepared. In the meantime Watts was given an intermediate driving ban after admitting drink-driving and having no licence and no insurance.

QUESTION & ANSWER

VICTORIA POMERY

QA

Victoria Pomery, director of the Turner Contemporary, talks to Tom Betts about why she fell in love with Thanet and what she hopes the much-heralded new gallery will achieve for the area

Q Where in Thanet do you spend most of your time?

A I spend most of my time in my office overlooking the harbour in Margate. It is the best office I have ever had – I can open the windows when it is hot, look out to sea when I need inspiration, and keep a watchful eye on the tide, which keeps me grounded. It is really important for me to keep up with developments in contemporary art, so I am often away, but I miss being here and am always glad to return.

Q What originally brought you to the area?

A I came to Thanet in 2002 because of the job. I moved from Liverpool to Thanet, which was a huge change. The chance to develop a new organisation and a new gallery was such a great opportunity and I now feel very at home here. I remember my first visit, getting off the train and seeing a heavy grey sky and the beautiful bay and falling in love with it just like that!

Q What do you like about Thanet?

A I am a real fan of Thanet – there are so many fantastic things here. I like the climate, the sea and sky, chalk cliffs, fresh air and sense of space. I like the fact that it is different from other parts of the UK and that on a clear day I can see directly across to France.

Q Are there any aspects of Thanet that you dislike?

A Thanet is by no means perfect, but nor is anywhere else – it's what you make of it. I sometimes wish more people would be more positive about the area – it has so much going for it and a huge amount of potential which has yet to be realised.

Q In what way do you think the Turner Contemporary will benefit the area?

A I feel that Turner Contemporary has already benefited the area. It is proving a real catalyst to other developments and investment in Margate. Our programmes of exhibitions and events have generated a lot of media interest, which has helped put Margate on the map. When our new building opens, it will be much more apparent to see the benefits. Turner Contemporary will be an amazing resource for schools, colleges and universities, and our focus on learning will benefit all members of the community.

The opportunity to see works of art by artists including JMW Turner in specially designed, naturally lit galleries will allow all audiences to experience the very best exhibitions.

We anticipate that Turner Contemporary will also drive further investment into the area and create numerous jobs.

Q What do you like to do in your spare time?

A I don't have much spare time, but when I am in Thanet I love to walk along the beach, swim in the sea, go to the cinema, visit the farm shop, develop new recipes for the wonderful cauliflowers which are grown here and eat ice cream.

Q Give me your views on the future for the area

A Thanet is a really special place, but it needs to change. The trick is to keep it special while transforming it. There is no quick fix, but I believe that Thanet can reinvent itself and building Turner Contemporary is just one element of the change.

Q What changes would you like to see happen in Thanet over the next few years?

A I look forward to seeing a vibrant high street in Margate, more activity in the harbour and improved public realm across Thanet. I would like to see Thanet developing a wider cultural tourism which also embraces the green agenda. I am particularly interested in ensuring that lots of people are able to enjoy Turner Contemporary and will be working with my team to ensure that all visitors, whether from the area or farther afield, have access to exciting and thought-provoking exhibitions and events.

Investment helps beat off the credit crunch

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

REGENERATION and expansion projects across Kent have helped stave off a disastrous 'credit crunch' – leaving the county's property market in a healthy condition.

The positive outlook was presented in the annual Kent Property Market Report, unveiled at a breakfast event at the new Princes Park stadium in Dartford.

The report noted the effect of town redevelopment schemes and increased transport links across the county.

It is thought such investment in the county has kept Kent's medium- to long-term prospects stable in the face of global concerns over the build-up of debt in the UK and America.

Opening the breakfast meeting on Thursday, the county council's regeneration chief, Roger Gough, said: "The regeneration across Kent is providing a major boost to the county."

"There are also many more developments planned, including transport links that will open Kent up to the wider national and international markets."

"This report highlights the progress being made and the potential going forward. Working with organisations such as Locate in Kent, we are committed to helping businesses maximise the potential of the area and seize the opportunities presented in the coming years."

The report suggests that the billion-pound investment in Kent's major redevelopment projects had filtered through to smaller businesses.

At Chatham Maritime two office buildings were sold for more than £20 million; in Ashford, Quadrant Estates completed the office development of Northdown at Eureka Park with almost 1,600 sq m sold; and the expanding Kings Hill site at West Malling

PLATFORM: The imminent opening of Ebbsfleet international station will make Kent more accessible to London and the Continent experienced a flurry of activity, with almost 20,000 sq m of transactions agreed.

Established business parks across the county have seen considerable expansion, while office rental growth as a whole has maintained a stable position compared with elsewhere in the South East during the last 10 years.

Bill Siegle, the head of Cluttons commercial division, which presented the report, said: "Transport links and developments in the Thames Gateway have been the catalysts for the area's regeneration and we are seeing good levels of investment across the county."

"Developments at business parks including Chatham Maritime and Eureka Park in Ashford, and new facilities in Folkestone, Dover and Margate are just a handful of examples. These are exciting times for Kent."

Survival

Paul Wookey, chief executive of Locate in Kent, said: "Growth in employees in Kent between 1998 and 2005 was more than 15 per cent, compared with 9.8 per cent in the South East and 8.8 per cent in the UK."

"VAT registrations in Kent are above South East and UK figures, as are survival rates of new companies."

"The report shows there is a good supply of office space at affordable prices. We expect the demand for offices to increase – and we are ready and able to service this demand."

Increased transport links will further stabilise the property market by making Kent more accessible to both London and the Continent.

The imminent opening of Ebbsfleet international station will launch new services across the South East and beyond.

With the start of new high-speed domestic services in 2009, it will take just 17 minutes to travel from Ebbsfleet international to London St Pancras, 37 minutes from Ashford, and just over an hour from Folkestone to the City.

The level of business activity has had a knock-on effect in the retail, leisure and tourism sectors, with spending steadily improving throughout 2006 and into this year.

Developments in these areas are under way, with plans for hotels to be built in Folkestone, Canterbury and Rochester; a leisure complex at Westwood Cross in Thanet which includes a cinema, bingo and casino centre; and new restaurants and a mixed-use development at Folkestone harbour.

Simple measures to help keep your children safe

ROAD safety chiefs have urged parents to warn their children of the increased danger of walking or cycling as the evenings get darker.

Ringway, Kent County Council's highways maintenance company, said youngsters should always wear or carry something bright which will show up in car headlights now that the clocks have gone back.

Dave Campbell, the company's health and safety manager, said: "The autumn and winter months are traditionally the times of year when the number of road accidents involving children peaks. There are a number of very simple measures children can take to ensure their safety – the most basic of which is to ensure that can easily be seen in the dark or bad weather."

He added that they should also always use pedestrian and zebra crossings, subways and footbridges – as children often cross in dangerous places rather than walk a few extra metres to a dedicated crossing.

Mr Campbell said: "Councils invest significant amounts of money in installing and maintaining crossings close to schools and it is vital that children understand the importance of using them to protect themselves."

Ringway is offering free reflective wristbands to our readers. Phone Steve Kidd on 01403 215859, or email info@ringway.co.uk.

KCC media man to leave after 27 years of service

KENT County Council's most senior media advisor, Gerry Moore, has announced he is leaving the authority after 27 years in his post.

The corporate communications manager said: "After nearly three decades with the county council I have decided it is time to look for a fresh challenge."

Mr Moore, 55, who lives near Ashford, worked very closely with Lord Bruce-Lockhart during his leadership of KCC but denied his departure was due to personality clashes with the new regime at County Hall under Paul Carter.

The authority appointed a new deputy to Mr Moore earlier this year – Marcus Chrysostomou, who had worked with Alastair Campbell at the Downing Street press office.

Westwood Cross gets into the festive spirit

SANTA is making his first visit to Westwood Cross soon.

He will appear at Debenhams from 11am at a Christmas grotto on Saturday, November 17, and will be raising funds for the NSPCC.

At 3.45pm that day, the shopping centre hosts a Christmas lantern parade before switching its lights on that afternoon at 4.15pm.

A spokesman said: "We believe in making Christmas special and we have a great day lined up to launch our festivities."

Supermarket to slash prices for Christmas

ASDA hopes to cash in on the usual Christmas shopping frenzy by lowering its prices.

Consumers in the UK are expected to spend more than £11.8 billion in the run-up to this year's festivities, but research shows most households are actually tightening their belts at this time of year.

So the supermarket chain is slashing the cost of Christmas essentials, including groceries, clothing, toys and gifts.

Football Manager 2008 puts you to the test

WANT to follow in the footsteps of Sir Alex Ferguson, Arsene Wenger and Jose Mourinho? Then get braced for the latest instalment of the perennially popular Football Manager franchise.

The 2008 version of the award-winner hit the shelves in recent days, with stores across the district looking to lure shoppers. With a recommended retail price of £29.99, it's worth shopping around for the best deal – and then put those skills to work in the transfer market.

The Book Club Bible is essential for readers

BOOK group members might want to consult a new guide before parting with their hard-earned cash.

Fed up with struggling to choose new novels for her own group, Ana Sampson from Tonbridge decided to compile The Book Club Bible.

The guide, priced at £7.99, features synopses (without plot spoilers), background information and discussion points for 100 good reads and promises to be an invaluable aid for keen readers.

Campaign designed to make a green impact

SUPERMARKET giant Tesco is hoping a new push to highlight its green credentials will help boost trade further.

Its Greener Living campaign on its official website highlights what it is doing to protect the environment as well as passing on useful tips and hints to its customers.

The site also includes activities for parents to share with their children to ensure the next generation think about the world around them. Access the site at www.tesco.com/greenerliving.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living on the Isle of Thanet...

I love fireworks, but don't let men too near to them

I LOVE fireworks. We are lucky enough to get plenty of them throughout the summer months around the Thanet coast. Oh, I do like to be beside the seaside...

I am not so keen on the November firework season. It is a scary time of year, and I am not referring to Halloween. It is the sale of these explosives to the public which worries me most.

Every year hundreds of people, mostly children, are injured by fireworks. Very young children are vulnerable and often involved in accidents with sparklers.

I will let you into a secret. I think it may be a little-known fact that it is illegal for people under the age of 18 to be handling fireworks, throwing them around, igniting them in the street, that sort of thing.

It is dangerous, too. Many times I have been fearful, wondering if a stray rocket will head in my direction, as I walk to work in the morning. I do not think I'm being over-dramatic.

Pyrotechnics bring out all the worst qualities in a man. A few years ago I banned my own husband from buying fireworks after a 'display' in our back garden. You know men think size is important: he only bought one firework and it was big, BIG, BIG!

The scene: our backyard, two small children, baby in his bouncy chair, and me. Hubby lit the fuse and we waited – a moment later the children were screaming, I grabbed the baby and we rushed in doors in terror.

It was an explosion: the noise, the brightness, the smoke and ash. It was like being underneath an Apollo launch pad. With the doors shut, we were too scared to even go near the windows – there was no fun in that.

The next day everything outside was covered in black debris and ash. A thick layer reminiscent of that left behind after the meteorite which wiped out the dinosaurs, 65 million years ago.

That clay layer, containing extraterrestrial iridium, has been found all over the world, the crater being in South America. Our ash layer can be dated to the early 21st century, Margate, and covered a fair amount of Bath Road.

I did find enough of the packaging, however, to discover we should have been at least 10 meters away. That is, somewhere down the street.

All I can say is that it is further evidence that men need tape measures – they can not guess lengths (the fisherman's tale; seven inches; give a man an inch and he will think he's a ruler, that sort of thing).

As fireworks are so expensive, the best displays will always be those put on as part of a big organised event. Even at organised events, accidents do happen and rockets do go in the wrong direction. So I generally stand near the back of the crowd. You might spot me, I will be wearing full protective, fireproof clothing.

If you love fireworks, there are plenty of opportunities to see them around Thanet. For the past three years I have been to watch the fireworks at Chilton School in Ramsgate. As well as indoor entertainment for the children, there has been an added bonus: from the playground we get a good view of the other nearby displays.

TALK TIME

DUDLEY ROSS

Dudley Ross is the guitarist with Kent's acclaimed band Waterhorse and, with singer Sarah Nicholls, is originally from Margate

What is most appealing about Thanet?

I was born in Margate so have many fond memories of Thanet. For me it's the memories.

What would you like to see improve?

Well, I've got to say since moving away, when I come back to Thanet I'm always impressed with how much it's improved. I teach at the Thanet campus at Christchurch and drive past the new Westwood Cross - it's really made a difference and it's nice to see it's still growing. One place I do feel needs improving is Cliftonville - it just needs some TLC and money pumped into it.

Where would you advise someone to visit?

Broadstairs - for me this place has nearly everything I need for a great time out as well as having a real sense of history and beauty, especially with those awesome views from the tops of the cliffs. If you fancy a nice meal, the restaurants are excellent. There's also plenty of great pubs, too, so if you fancy a few quiet beers or even a few hundred beers with the lads you'll find the right pub. I also like it on a summer day - the beach is nice and there are plenty of places to explore.

Do you think it has a good music scene?

Well, I spent many years as a young aspiring guitarist going to see bands at the Britannia and Lido, so it worked for me, but I'd always like to see more venues. I think at last people are wanting to see real music played by real musicians. Living in Canterbury now, Thanet wipes the floor with Canterbury in regards to having a happening live music scene.

YOUR LETTERS

The Romans ran the roads better

The state of the roads and pavements in and around Ramsgate is deplorable.

Roads are subsiding in places and side drains and manhole covers are often as much as six inches below the level of the road, requiring motorists to swerve around them.

Many roads have been dug up and carelessly refilled so frequently as to make the surface of the Moon look like a bowling green.

Only one road has been properly resurfaced in the past three years - Queen's and West Cliff Roads. At this rate, Ramsgate roads will be made over every 600 years. The Romans managed our roads better than this.

The undulating pavements are a hazard to the less agile. Some broken kerbstones are traps that threaten to tip the elderly and young children into the paths of oncoming vehicles.

Where has the taxpayers' money that should pay for ongoing maintenance and repair gone?

Gerry O'Donnell
Chairman, Ramsgate First

Stop wasting cash and sort fly-tipping

Recent statistics show that Conservative-controlled Thanet council is spending five times more on dealing with fly-tipping than any other local authority in Kent - 15 times more than some - yet over the last three years there have been no reported prosecutions.

LETTER OF THE WEEK

I wish the town hall would listen to us before deciding what improvements we need here

With regard to Turner Contemporary, Thanet Council says it listens to us - but it does not.

I speak to a lot of people and have not found one person who feels that Turner Contemporary will be an asset to Thanet.

Thanet is a deprived area with so much lacking - if we need the centre, why do they not look at using one of the buildings that the council already owns and that has a history attached to it?

It's too late now, but the Royal Sea Bathing Hospital would have been perfect, while Albion House, which the council wants to sell against residents' wishes, would also be a good choice.

It is high on a hill with perfect sea views and the building could do with some money spent on it - it has history going back to Queen Elizabeth I.

Why does Thanet council continue to ignore what we want? Ramsgate wanted to break away from it, but the council did not believe the number of signatures that had been gathered. It spent money on sending a questionnaire to every household to make sure this was what we wanted, but we have not had the chance to vote for or against.

Thanet council needs to conduct a poll. We go without so much in this area because of a shortage of money - give us things we need before we go all out for luxuries that we can live without.

I am sick of this council wasting money when we can't get more waste bins, alleyways are not swept, there is litter everywhere, and there is a lack of seating, toilets and a bus service to unserved areas... the list goes on.

I have just returned from Clacton-on-Sea, which has just finished being upgraded and has no plans for a Turner centre or similar.

They have worked with what they have got - there's a great one-way system, wide pedestrian areas, an excellent bus system, masses of litter bins and lots of very strong steel-type seating,

Jennifer Pay
Ramsgate

It is spending huge sums of taxpayers' money and yet is not dealing with the problem.

It is stunning that none of the measures that other authorities have found effective are being taken, and the cost is a third of the total spent on fly-tipping in Kent - more than £500,000 a year!

While Thanet Conservatives indulge in photo opportunities showing them spending a few minutes picking up litter, their awful record of lack of action on fly-tipping is on the streets for all to see - residents and visitors alike.

Other councils in Kent have successfully managed the problem, and incidents range from just 575 a year in Tunbridge Wells to 2,708 in Swale.

Here there were 12,746 incidents last year and the figures are still rising.

Lack of intelligent action to deal with the problem has resulted in a £538,000 bill for Thanet taxpayers just to collect and dispose of fly-tipped rubbish.

It is known that problems are centred on household black-bag waste in or around properties with poor storage facilities.

There is a particular problem in the central areas of Margate and Ramsgate, where a combination of terraced houses, multiple occupation and gulls create our major rubbish problems.

Other councils have installed street bins for these properties and encouraged residents to use the bins for household and recyclable waste.

While Thanet council wheels out the wheelie bins in the easier places, they are ignoring these problem areas.

It is time it stopped wasting taxpayers' money and started taking action.

going to lose it because I can't pay the police bill?")

Several months ago my son's car was also stolen and he reported it to the police. They took the details over the phone, but that was all.

Some time later the same day we found the car abandoned in the next road. We rang the police to tell them we had found it and that, apart from some minor damage to the dashboard, the car was intact.

Nevertheless, they told us not to move the car but to stay with it and they would arrange for it to be collected by Lamberts and examined.

Like Mr Colgate, we heard nothing more from the police but were advised a couple of days later that we could collect it from Lamberts for a fee!

As it turned out, the police and Lamberts deprived my son of the use of the vehicle for longer than the criminals, and the costs of retrieving the vehicle exceeded the cost of repair to the damage.

Like Mr Colgate's, the car was insured third party only, so none of these costs could be recovered.

Tories can't blame Whitehall for building

With regard to the letter from Cllr Ewen Cameron (Yourthanet, October 24), Tories at Thanet council have already allowed some housing on the Green Wedge – also it was Thanet Tories who tried to get new housing on parkland and leisure space.

It is Labour members working with local residents who are resisting this – there will be more fights to come.

Thanet is under no pressure from the Government to build. In fact, Thanet is building more housing than required, exceeding the 430 homes per year for the last three years – all under the Tories!

Everything so far agreed is enough to meet the 2011 target without a single further home being given planning permission.

Yes, the 1,000 homes at Westwood were agreed under Labour, after consultation, and fully supported by the Tories.

Local Planning law is now guided by PPS3, which handed the power to local government to decide where and what to build. This was power given locally by a Labour government – it gives the powers of decisions on building in gardens to Thanet council.

Cllr Richard Nicholson
Labour leader, Thanet council

Bureaucrats didn't listen to the people

My job involves driving, and the other afternoon the roads leading to Westwood from Margate, Haine Road and Ramsgate Road, as well as the roundabout by the old Pearce Signs, were overloaded with the school run.

No one gets anywhere fast these days in this area – the Westwood Cross shopping sheds stop the day movements of residents just trying to get from A to B.

The roads should have been built first – not the other way round.

Many years ago, in Pierremont Park, Broadstairs, more than 1,000 people turned out for a public meeting with all their concerns.

It was a waste of time – your town centre is Westwood, whether you live in Ramsgate, Margate, Broadstairs, or the villages.

I sat at the Government Office for the South East (GOSE) for two days telling them of my concerns, but it was in one ear and out the other. GOSE should be hauled back to account for not listening to the people who live in Thanet.

Our lovely dogs are family members

In reply to the letter last week from VA Wells (with which I totally disagree) about dogs in the Royal Albion Hotel, Broadstairs, I would like to respectfully point out that dogs are indeed made very welcome in several food establishments in the Broadstairs area (hotels, pubs and cafés) and, of course, countryside.

I often go to the Royal Albion Hotel with my dogs for a meal in the bar area and have always felt very welcome, thanks to both the friendly staff and other visitors.

I have never seen any dog there causing a problem.

Dogs are much-loved and treasured family members and it is lovely to be able to have them with us while having a meal.

Many visitors and local people enjoy the lovely walks along the sands with their dogs and then taking some refreshment at a hotel.

Thank you to the Royal Albion Hotel and all the other hotels, pubs and cafés in the area which welcome dogs for your enlightened attitude and long may it continue.

earliest ambitions as an actress was to land a hunky love interest in Coronation
Street.Since then she has become one of Britain's best-loved and most talented performers, but Scales still remembers those early days in the 1960s."I was in two episodes very early on, playing a bus conductress," she recalled. "I hoped my character would get Harry Hewitt as a boyfriend, but she didn't."Failing to win Harry's affections might have been a good thing for the young lady as he was later crushed to death by a van. It certainly didn't affect Scales's career and she has never looked back since treading
the famous cobbles.Born in Surrey in June 1932, Prunella Margaret

Scales brilliantly booked her place in

of talking about Sybil. But Fawltly
Towers still has a place in her heart."I'm very proud and grateful to it.
The lovely thing about Fawltly
Towers is that when you look at it again, it hasn't lost speed," she said.Better still, as far as Scales was concerned, it raised awareness of her work in the theatre.She said: "If the British public have enjoyed you on television it can be a great advantage.""When you've been in a popular show they remember you and will actually take the giant step from the pavement into the theatre."She has been married to fellow actor Timothy West for 45 years and they have two sons, Samuel and Joe.
Samuel has also entered the

THE consequences of great music falling into the hands of complete idiots are explored by a classical trio with a difference.

Award-winning act Pluck manage to argue, compete, ridicule, dance and fight their way through some fantastic music, from Bach to The Beatles, in the name of entertainment. They tackle Brahms, Ravel and Vivaldi but in a way that would have the composers laughing in their graves.

Pluck was formed by violinist Adrian Garratt in 2002, when he got together with violist Jon Regan and cellist Sian Kadifachi.

Tickets to see the hugely successful stand-up comedian sold out quickly last time he visited Margate, so buy yours now to avoid missing out. As the presenter of Channel 4's panel game 8 Out of 10 Cats and numerous other programmes, Carr has become one of Britain's most popular comics.

He has enjoyed national sell-out tours every year since 2003, and his current show, Repeat Offender, will run for almost 11 months.

He has co-written a book called The Naked Jape and is currently recording his third DVD, to be released in November.

Described as entertainment "for people without a moral compass", the show is not suitable for people who are easily offended.

The show starts at 8pm. Tickets cost

£19.50/£18.50. To book, phone the box office on 01843 292795/296111, or visit www.margatewintergardens.co.uk.

Viggo's walk on wild side

■ BY EILEEN CONDON

IF you're looking for the definition of a brave actor then look no further than Viggo Mortensen. Not only does the Lord Of The Rings star perform one of the most graphic and violent fight scenes in his latest movie, he does it completely starkers.

What's more, it was entirely his decision to brawl bare in gangster flick Eastern Promises.

"The scene takes place in a steam bath where I get attacked by two guys so it would have been silly to have a towel on," explains Viggo. "This is a realistic and gritty movie so to have a scene where you're trying to avoid seeing someone's body would have been just dumb," he said.

Directed by David Cronenberg, Viggo adds that he couldn't have done the scene without the controversial film-maker.

"I also worked with him on A History of Violence and feel very safe with him," he added. "We understand each other."

The fight scene further establishes Viggo's reputation as one of the most fearless actors around. Not content with baring all for the camera, the star, who has just turned 49, also took on the might of the Russian Mafia for the movie.

In the film, Viggo plays the mysterious Russian-born Nikolai Luzhin, a driver for one of London's organised crime families. His carefully maintained existence is suddenly turned upside down when his path crosses with Anna (Naomi Watts), a midwife trying to find out the background of a Russian teenager who died giving birth.

Though the film is shot on location in London, Viggo took himself off to Russia for several weeks, where he learned the language and met some of the country's most disreputable mob men.

The committed actor also spent a painstaking four hours in make-up having 43 temporary tattoos transferred onto his body, ranging from a tiger, stars, skulls, daggers, a scorpion, a sailing ship, the Virgin Mary and a huge crucifix emblazoned across his chest.

"Some of the tattoos were humorous and some were quite poetic," said Viggo. "On the instep of my right foot one said 'Where are you going?' on the instep of the other foot another said 'What the hell do you care?'"

Despite his huge success, not to mention sex symbol status, Viggo is still one of the most reticent movie stars around.

Rarely seen on the red carpet, the actor lives

ROLE PLAY: In his new film Eastern Promises, actor Viggo Mortensen bares all in a violent fight scene in a steam bath away from the limelight on a vast ranch, where his 18-year-old son Henry from his marriage to singer Exene Cervenka is a regular visitor.

Viggo even managed to maintain his closely guarded privacy after his phenomenal success as Aragorn in Lord of the Rings, and remains typically laid back about the life-changing role.

"I think I just got lucky," he said of the epic trilogy.

And though he's no doubt busy immersing himself on other worlds in preparation for future roles, the enigmatic star hasn't ruled out the possibility of Aragorn's return.

"I heard talk of a Hobbit film and, yes I'm curious about it," he said. "I don't know where Aragorn would fit into that, but if it happens then Peter Jackson would be the best person to direct it."

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

TAKE care not to fritter away your time on useless activities or you could miss a romantic opportunity. Ask a group of friends to help promote your creative efforts. You've got great instincts when it comes to things that hit a nerve with the public. Applying to a school or arranging a trip abroad is highly favoured.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

RESIST the urge to buy someone's affection. What this person really wants is your time and affection. Support your partner's desire to go into a more creative field. You could be given a plum assignment, too, allowing you to showcase your interpersonal skills. Make it your mission to give people the care you always want, but rarely get.

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

A VACATION may prove more expensive than you realise. It may be better to choose a less luxurious destination. Working from home could put some extra money in your pocket. Discuss the possibility with your boss. If you're looking for love, you could find it at a large institution like a government office, hospital, or university.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 22)

DON'T get swept up in a buying frenzy with a friend or you could drive yourself deep into debt. Borrowing or lending money isn't advised, either. Your star power puts you in contact with some influential people. A relative could give you a generous gift of money. Trust your instincts when it comes to household matters.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

IT feels like a loved one is taking you for granted. It's probably because you've been spending so much time at work. You've got to adjust your schedule so that it reflects your true priorities. Talk to your boss about working from home or assuming a less prominent role. A stalled tax refund or inheritance could finally come through.

GEMINI (May 22 - Jun 22)

DWELLING on disappointments from the past could undermine a close relationship. Organising your household will make it easier to go about your daily business. Don't be afraid to get rid of the clutter. Enlist the aid of a Virgo if you're not sure where to begin. You're looking forward to some time away. Make time for a movie or play.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sep 23)

YOU can't afford to postpone family responsibilities any longer. People are relying on you to run some errands or provide childcare. Put your needs aside for the sake of others who have helped you in the past. Adopting a hardworking attitude will make it easier to learn new skills. This week is ideal for launching salary talks.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

YOU could face challenges at work this week. If you feel like you're out of your element, ask for additional training. Your drive and determination enhances your sex appeal. Getting involved with a group of spiritually-minded people makes you more compassionate. Reach out to a business or romantic partner who needs your support.

CANCER (Jun 23 - Jul 23)

SAYING one thing and doing another could undermine your reputation. Be especially careful about promising things before they become available. Your creative juices are flowing and may prompt you to take an art class. Don't be surprised if you feel sparks between you and your instructor. Be sure to attend to household bills and chores.

LIBRA (Sep 24 - Oct 23)

BEWARE of blurting out a secret, or you could do irreparable damage to a friendship. If somebody asks for your honest opinion, give it. Assuming a thankless job could put you in line for a bonus. Pour on the charm when dealing with a love interest. Just when you thought your fairy-tale idea of romance was fading, someone sweeps you off your feet.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 - Jan 20)

YOU may underestimate the time it takes to deal with a hospital, university, or house of worship. If you need to get an official document from such a place, go armed with plenty of different forms of identification. Your extensive knowledge and experience make you a natural leader of a group. Take care to enforce the rules.

Backchat

with Dr. Christian Farthing at the Ideal Spine Centre,
Canterbury

Did you get your £1,500 cheque?

In February 2007, BBC 4 televised a show called 'Dispatches' questioning where all the money goes in our NHS.

Statistics have shown us that the NHS spends an average of £1,500 per year on every man, woman and child in the UK. I don't know about you, but I have not seen my £1,500 for the past seven years since I moved from Australia to Canterbury in 2000. Upon asking many of my healthy patients, they haven't had £1,500 of services from the NHS either!

There is a National deficit in excess £3 billion and the problem is just getting worse. Most people close their eyes and think "that doesn't affect me". Well, the truth is, it does: either in taxes, treatment, mistakes or in injury. We have a problem that is so big, that most people leave it in the hands of the politicians. The solution is so obvious, but unfortunately for the politicians, it is an 'inconvenient truth'.

Just imagine if the government gave each and every one of us £1,500 each year to spend on our health. We would have a wellness explosion! More people could afford a gym membership, to go on health experiences like health days, buy fresh produce from their local farm shops instead of buying packet food and poor quality produce from mass produced food chains, buy water filters to be able to drink a clean water source, have regular preventative spine and health checkups and take more regular stress free holidays.

What would our town look like? Gyms filled, swimming pools, sauna and spa facilities would be in great demand, more wellness doctors teaching people about health and keeping you well, without the use of drugs and surgery!

Just imagine...

On the other side of town, hospital beds would be empty and the few people with life threatening diseases and emergencies would be treated quickly and efficiently. This would be a first...enough beds! Medical practices would be quiet and if you had a serious problem, you could easily get in on the day. Imagine not having to call first thing in the morning and hope for an appointment.

Just imagine...

There would be less people killed as a result of medical error because less people would go to the medical doctor because they would be kept well by seeing new age wellness doctors who are not interested in the profits of the pharmaceutical companies, but in the people and their families' wellbeing. The great principled medical specialists who save lives will do their jobs with less stress and make a lot less mistakes. People will be served as people and not as a number. You will be seen because you need it, not just to fulfil government targets.

Just imagine...

An average 300 people die each day due to errors made by medicine. That is what happens each and every day in the UK. That number has increased in the past five years to make medicine the leading cause of death in the UK after heart disease and cancer. The question is, if we keep using medicine as our health solution, how long will it take for it to be the No.1 preventable cause of death?

To add to an already serious problem, mistakes cost the NHS an additional £730 million each year! So, to get well and stay well, medicine may be good for an emergency (if you are lucky), but definitely no good for your future wellness. Speak to your Wellness Doctor first, not last!

During the month of November our family practice is providing free spine and posture health checks for families. The first 50 callers will also receive a copy of my most recent book to help understand the secrets to better health, naturally. We look forward to helping you.

Beeny knows the best way to climb the ladder

■ BY ANDY WELCH

"THIS might sound terrible," says Sarah Beeny. "But when I say to someone 'keep the colours neutral', it's because they have terrible taste!"

It's just one of the little nuggets of truth the presenter and homes guru throws into the conversation when talking about Property Ladder. She's certainly had enough time to collect some anecdotes too, the hugely successful Channel 4 series has been in almost full-time production since 2001.

And now it is back on Tuesday nights with the first of the new series airing last night.

There are no signs of Sarah getting tired of the format, however, as she is more excited about the new series than any of the past offerings. The main reason is the unusual conversions which make up many of the renovation projects.

"Every year, the shows really do get better," she said. "When I think back to the first couple of series, they were fairly unexciting developments. They were fun at the time, of course, but it was all pretty conventional stuff, and obvious."

"This series has some more unusual properties. I've got a lot more to say about them as well, new things to say, as we haven't done these types of houses on the show before."

Regardless of what the development is, though, the Reading-native maintains the principles of all property renovation remain the same.

"I think in any business, the ultimate goal has to be profit. Any business that takes its eye off the bottom line will go bust. You hear that time and time again."

"Profit has to drive everything you do, but that's not to say it's the only thing that matters."

ON THE GO: Property Ladder presenter Sarah Beeny has also set up an online dating site called mysinglefriend.com

You also must enjoy the process of making the profit and enjoy the product," she said.

As well as revealing a number of truths about the show – Sarah likes some developers a lot more than others, doesn't understand why people attempt renovations on limited budgets and questions some of the decisions made – there are also a number of misconceptions about the programme that she's only too happy to put straight.

"People always say no-one listens to my advice on the programme, but they do, you just don't see or notice it. If someone is agreeing with me or doing something well, then it isn't an issue and we don't talk about it. I'm not going to keep asking someone whether they're agreeing with me or not!"

Also, contrary to popular belief, Sarah is not constantly with child. She can go from her normal svelte self to looking like she's seconds away from birth in the space of a scene, but that's due to the way in which the shows are filmed. They're made over the course of a year, sometimes more, capturing the presenter at different stages of her two pregnancies.

"Yes, it looks like I'm always pregnant. I can't believe I've only got two," she said. "It feels like I've got about six from watching the shows back. But certain developments go better together in a programme than others, so the bosses choose different ones."

Away from Property Ladder, which is basically an extension of her day job as a practising property developer (along with her husband and brother, she owns a development company), Sarah is a keen matchmaker to her friends.

This later turned into another job when she and a group of friends set up mysinglefriend.com, an online dating site where friends describe their single pals, rather than having singletons describing themselves.

It's now a well-known, established site, but it could see Sarah becoming the new Cilla when she fronts a dating show next year.

"We did a pilot last year, but it wasn't particularly successful," she says. "We're up and running again now though, so watch this space. Dating show formats are hard to come up with and are inevitably compared to Blind Date, but we think we've found the amber nectar."

Thailand's creature comforts

■ BY CAROLINE GAMMELL

NOT only was it my first time as an artist's assistant, but my master had a worldwide reputation to uphold – and he just happened to be an elephant.

Deep in the jungles of northern Thailand, I was handing over paints to a 17ft Asian elephant called Kongkam, who created a subliminal piece in a matter of minutes.

The finished piece of work was the most treasured memento gathered during an eight-day trip to Thailand.

Far from the gimmick I feared it might be, a day at Maesa Elephant Camp, near Chiang Mai, was simply wonderful.

After an hour of stroking and patting the assembled elephants and learning how to sit on these massive creatures without tumbling off, we embarked on a stroll up the steep muddy hill which offered spectacular views of the surrounding countryside.

After a day of getting mucky at the camp, it was time to return to our nearby solace of decadence – the Mandarin Oriental Devi Dhara. Spread over 60 acres, this recently completed $80 million hotel was quite something.

The concept is that of an ancient city – in microcosm – one you cross a moat and pass through high walls to enter.

The ornate temples and Lanna influenced Thai structures have been painstakingly

IMPRESSIVE SURROUNDINGS: The Mandarin Oriental Devi Dhara is a $80 million hotel spread out over 60 acres recreated and are incredibly impressive.

Rooms vary from colonial style suites overlooking the pool to the more traditional Thai villas which look out over the hotel's own paddy fields. Some even have their own swimming pools. The whole set up is undoubtedly impressive but feels slightly surreal, a million miles from the chaos of Chiang Mai, a few miles down the road. The opulence is fabulous, but it is nice to get out and about and spend at least one evening in town.

Having said that, the food in Le Grand

Lanna could be enough to keep you within the hotel, with its subtle flavours and delicacies.

One of the hotel's highlights is the Dheva spa, set on its own in the grounds and offering a spectacular array of treatments.

Spas are something Thailand's best hotels do very well. At our second location, the Sila Evason Hideaway on the island of Ko Samui, you can have your treatment in the open air, looking out to sea and listening to the waves as you enjoy a deep tissue massage.

Each room has a stunning view looking out across the Gulf of Siam and the other islands nearby. In fact, everywhere you go on the 20-acre site has a spectacular outlook.

The rooms themselves cannot be faulted. Each one is split-level and most have an infinity pool where you can splash about, again admiring the view.

Thailand is a place of contrasts and nowhere is that more apparent than moving from the laid-back islands to the frenetic pace of Bangkok.

The city, home to nine million people, is hectic, dirty, noisy and centred along the snaking Chao Praya river. It feels busy with people scurrying about their daily lives, while tourists gawp at the stunning Grand Palace and take advantage of the excellent shopping.

We stayed at the Peninsula Hotel, perched on the river, and enjoyed some of the best Thai food of the trip.

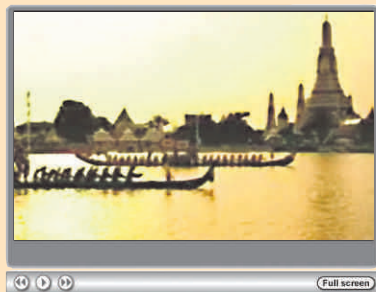

I went to Thailand with many pre-conceived and rather stereotypical ideas about what I would find. It surpassed them all and, a little heavier, I returned to the UK ready to plan my next trip.

PROPERTY NEWS

Lords ruling teaches important land lessons

A HOUSE OF LORDS case has highlighted the importance of leaving nothing to chance when buying a property.

It confirmed the 2006 decision of the Court of Appeal that when a piece of land is landlocked (it has no right of access over adjoining land so cannot be lawfully accessed by its owner), there is no automatic right to have a right of way 'of necessity' over adjoining land.

The case involved land bought from a landowner who had originally retained it when he sold adjoining land to the council.

The landowner had failed to negotiate any right of access across the land sold, leaving the retained land landlocked.

Since at the time of the original sale there had been no common intention there should be a right of access over the land sold, the Lords declined to grant a right of way.

Nicholas Kingsley Smith, of Kingsley Smith Solicitors LLP, said: "This case illustrates how important it is to be careful when dealing with transactions in land. The absence of the right to access the land means that to access his land, the landowner will need to negotiate from a position of considerable weakness with one of the adjoining landowners to secure a right of way."

First-time buyers given great deal from Barratt

DREAM START allows first-time buyers to purchase a new home for just 75 per cent of the purchase price. The remaining 25 per cent is deferred, without interest or rent, for up to 10 years or until the house is resold. Importantly, the buyer owns 100 per cent of the property.

To help first-time buyers more, no deposit is required and Barratt pays the stamp duty and legal fees up to £1,000. Carpets and kitchen appliances are included within the price.

Ann Moriarty, sales director at Barratt Kent, said: "I understand the difficulties that young people face in buying their new home. Opportunities like Dream Start can make a real difference. We can only offer a limited number of homes at each site under Dream Start and the last time Barratt ran this scheme we were overwhelmed by requests."

Dream Start is available on selected one- and two-bedroom apartments and three-bedroom houses at five Barratt developments in Kent: Riverside Plaza in Maidstone; Leybourne Park in Aylesford; West Hill Park in Dartford; Eden Village in Sittingbourne; and Connaught Park in Tunbridge Wells.

BONE OF CONTENTION: The controversial Home Improvement Packs have come under attack from Conservative MPs, who say that the documents don't work effectively

HIPS group attacks Tory 'scaremongering'

■ BY TIM JOHNSON

PROPERTY market experts have hit back at Conservative claims that the new home improvement packs (HIPS) are not working.

They say claims that trials have shown the documents can be used to conceal information are false.

Mike Ockenden, director-general of the Association of Home Information Pack Providers, launched the broadside this week.

He said: "The Conservatives are purely speculating that the information from last year's trials [of HIPS] is negative.

"While I can confirm that we have not received the results, anecdotal evidence suggests to us the feedback will be broadly positive.

"The Conservative reaction is just the usual politicking and scaremongering that we have come to expect from them about HIPS."

The packs are designed to speed-up the home-buying process by making sure the seller has information about their property ready before starting to market the property for sale.

The packs include the following documents:

- An index of contents
- A sale statement summarising terms of sale
- A New Homes Warranty, where appropriate
- Evidence of title for registered properties
- An Energy Performance Certificate

The following documents are also compulsory, but they can be added to the pack later if there are delays in obtaining them:

- Evidence of title for unregistered properties
- Searches, ie local authority enquiries and a drainage and water search
- Where appropriate, commonhold information including a copy of the commonhold community statement
- Where appropriate, leasehold information including a copy of the lease, information on service charges and insurance

Mr Ockenden said the HIPS initiative must now be followed through by the Government.

He said: "This is why it is so frustrating that Government has not completed the roll-out of HIPS. We have seen the market settle down well in the roll-out of HIPS for four- and three-bedroom homes and feedback to date has been very positive."

MOTORS NEWS

Past and present boost for Caterham's sales

DAYS may be shorter, but crisp mornings and blue skies have helped demand for new and used examples of the Kent-built Caterham Seven roadster.

Sales of used Sevens are up 25 per cent on 2006. Caterham says this may be due to the new Ford Sigma engine version boosting nostalgic interest in outgoing K-Series models like the Superlight R300.

Prices range from low mileage 1.4 105bhp Classics for as little as £9,950 to a two-year-old, range-topping CSR260 for £34,000.

Caterham has sold 12,000 of the lightweight sports car since 1973 and the design is currently celebrating 50 years.

Rugged new Seat has power and practicality

KENT Seat dealers have something different to offer with the launch of the new Altea Freetrack – a genuine sporting 4x4 cum people carrier.

It offers increased ride height and tough-looking styling, plus plenty of power; two models are offered, the 2.0-litre TSI petrol and 2.0-litre TDI diesel, priced at £20,495 and £21,395 respectively.

The newcomers feature a multimedia system with roof-mounted seven-inch screen that can link to DVD and MP3 players, video games and laptop computer.

New power-packed C2 baby from Citroën

HOT hatch and economy car are rarely paired descriptions, but Citroën claims to have managed this with its new 110bhp C2 1.6HDi VTS performance supermini.

Costing just £10,995 at the moment, this punchy little powerhouse – it delivers 80 per cent more pulling power than its petrol-powered stablemate – can reach 60mph in just over nine seconds.

But it is capable of averaging more than 60mpg and delivers CO2 emissions of just 119g/km, qualifying it for Band-B road tax.

LOOKING GOOD: Mercedes has shed its old conservative image with the striking CLS, a sleek four-door coupé which combines style, power and comfort

Big Mercedes CLS has definite feel-good factor

SOMETIMES you can set aside normal factors and go with just one when road testing a car.

It can be summed up as the 'feel-good factor'. You ask yourself: "Would this car lift my soul at first sight in the morning before you even climb behind the wheel?"

The Mercedes CLS is one of those cars.

Admittedly, it is hard to understand why Mercedes decided to make this sleek four-door sports coupé in the first place, when it had models enough to fill niches within niches.

On the other hand, it is a 'halo model' to outshine all others; if you doubted that Mercedes-Benz had shed its old conservative image, this is all the proof needed.

Our test car was the 3.5-litre V6 – the junior petrol model, but still capable of 0-62mph in 6.7 seconds.

It feels and sounds as good as the swooping bodywork suggests, but there is also the bonkers V8 AMG version with its 0-62mph in 4.5 seconds to get the adrenaline pumping.

The canny buy of the range though is the 3.0-litre diesel, with a comparatively modest seven-second sprint time, smooth running and an average of around 35-40mpg.

Whichever you go for though, a slick-shifting seven-speed auto 'box adds to the refined feel of the car and can be set in 'sport' or 'comfort' mode – the latter shifts up earlier rather than holding onto gears for maximum acceleration.

Using the more realistic sport mode – this is a sports coupé after all – the CLS's excellent chassis can be further exploited by using manual selection, though the intelligent auto is good enough to leave for most driving.

The swooping lines of the exterior are skillfully carried over to the interior through sculpted doors and the sweep of the centre console front and back – the car is a four-door 'for four' with two deep and comfortable sports seats in the back even if you have to duck a bit to get into them.

For a sporting car there is also an impressive amount of storage and luggage space.

CLS prices start at £43,962.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

COMPACT 4x4s

IT'S not hard to see why the compact 4x4 or sports utility vehicle (SUV) sector has boomed in the past few years. By combining trendy 4x4 looks, extra grip, varying degrees of off-roading ability and high-riding MPV versatility – many models have removable or flexible seating systems – carmakers have hit several bull's eyes at the same time. Couple that with the fact hi-tech diesel engines mean owners can buy image without having to empty their wallets to run the car, and the compact SUV package is hard to resist.

TOYOTA RAV4

TOYOTA'S original RAV4 – the so-called GTI off-roader – revolutionised the small 4x4 sector. The Japanese brand recognised that few 4x4s actually went anywhere where they needed the extra grip, so it concentrated instead on maximising on-road performance and comfort – the RAV was a huge success. The second-generation car was chunkier and roomier and offered a choice of diesel and petrol, removable rear seats and an even better driving experience.

LAND ROVER FREELANDER

TRUE to its Land Rover heritage, the Freelander is a serious, compact SUV off-road but also refined on-road. The 'country set' cachet of the badge also helped make it one of the best-sellers in its class. It sometimes suffers on the reliability front but does offer three- and five-door versions and a range of engine options, from an everyday 1.8 petrol to lively 2.5 V6 unit and including one of the best turbodiesels in the business.

HYUNDAI SANTA FE

HYUNDAI came through on the blind side with this one. The Korean marque's cars had been pretty forgettable until then, but the value-for-money Santa Fe looked and played the part, without being a serious off-roader. The interior was spacious and a rugged diesel engine option helped with everyday running costs. Hyundai's famous five-year warranty would then have clinched the deal for most buyers. If the budget will stretch, it is worth looking for the second-generation car.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Move to bring freight back to Channel Tunnel

EUROTUNNEL has decided to halve the cost of taking freight through the Channel Tunnel. The move is in a bid to bring traffic away from the ferries.

The average toll for a train of freight will be £3,000 from the start of next year, down from the current £6,000.

Eurotunnel's freight business has fallen over recent years, down from 3million tonnes in 1997 to just over 1m this year. The company blamed the fall on a growing lack of competitiveness in relation to the ferry companies – partly caused by its increased security costs.

A spokesman said the reduced prices had "considerable potential" to reverse its downward trend of rail freight.

Networking breakfast chance to pick up tips

THE Kent Invicta Chamber of Commerce launches the first of its new weekly networking business group next week.

The Business Breakfast Group is being organised by the business support organisation – which covers Maidstone, Ashford, Canterbury and Thanet – and gets under way on November 9.

The meetings will include 15-minute advice sessions on a variety of topics, including how to increase sales and cash flow, and top marketing tips.

The first is staged at the Boys' Hall in Willesborough, Ashford, between 7.30am-9am and open to members only.

For full details, email events@kentinvictachamber.co.uk.

Orders growing despite financial instability

MANUFACTURERS in the South East have become more pessimistic about the business environment in the wake of the credit crunch, according to the Confederation of British Industry.

However, the latest quarterly CBI Industrial Trends survey shows that despite the drop in sentiment, orders grew strongly and there is little evidence so far of the recent global financial instability.

But Richard Brownlow-Davies, the CBI's South East assistant regional director, said: "There are tentative signs the pace of demand and output growth will edge lower in coming months."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Shadow directorships resemble those of actual directors, which means they can share the civil liabilities in the event of a corporate insolvency

Danger lurking in the shadows

MATTHEW DUGDALE, of Kingsley Smith Solicitors, explains why taking up the role of non-executive director could leave you with more than you bargained for...

THE thought of a nice cosy non-executive directorship (NED) may be appealing for some people, and certainly in the past many were regarded as undemanding stipends.

However, the role of non-executives is being increasingly put under the microscope when companies fail and legislation coming in this month further ups the ante for NEDs.

This much is well known.

What is less well known is that even where the appointment to the board is unofficial, the same dangers are present.

The risk of being considered a shadow director depends on your role in the company. If you act as a director – in the sense that your instructions or directions are normally acted upon by the company – you are for some purposes in the same legal position as 'proper' directors of the company.

People in this position are known as 'shadow directors'.

Unfortunately for such people, danger lurks in shadow directorships because the main way in which their position resembles that of actual directors is they can share the civil liabilities of other directors in the event of a corporate insolvency.

This may lead to them being required to contribute funds to pay creditors of the company if it becomes insolvent.

They also face the possibility of being disqualified from acting as a director by the Department of Trade and Industry, where their conduct warrants such a ruling.

If you are asked to be a non-executive director or to participate at the decision-making level of a company's management as a consultant or advisor, take care – especially if the company is in financial difficulty.

Recently, a shadow director of a company was ordered to repay more than £850,000 plus compound interest after the company with which he was involved went into insolvent liquidation.

For a shadow director, ignorance of one's responsibilities is no defence.

Directors who fail to take actions to protect the interests of shareholders or who behave improperly can face significant penalties.

The best advice is always to seek legal advice before you take the plunge.

Goals come in threes for Trinity TRINITY under-eights continued their 100 per cent start to the season with an 8-1 victory over Hawkinge.

The Broadstairs side were on fire and the deadlock was broken when Tom Halfpenny smashed a quickfire brace.

Tom Fleet drove a left-foot pile-driver into the corner before Hawkinge battled and were rewarded with a goal for their efforts. Trinity bounced back as Riley Mallon made it four before the break.

The second half was the same as the first when Halfpenny completed his hat-trick. The strike force of Trinity was too much as Adam Campbell smashed home a hat-trick to complete the rout.

Gillingham captain Ian Cox reveals the mood in the dressing room

Hook up with fishing festival

BROADSTAIRS and St Peter's Sea Angling Society is holding its 85th annual fishing festival this weekend.

The competition is open to all National Federation of Sea Anglers members and is to be staged at Broadstairs harbour and sites around Foreness Point.

The event, which will be held over Saturday and Sunday, is to be fished under usual club rules, which means competitors must use one fishing rod with three hooks.

All anglers get a chance to compete for cash prizes over the weekend.

First prize will net the winner £300 and there are a number of other prizes to be won for various classes of fish caught.

Entry fees are £7 for each day and there is an optional pool of £3 per day.

A reserve two days later in the month is already planned and the club has decided on Saturday and Sunday, November 17-18, in the event of any weather problems this weekend.

HIGH HOPES: Jim Ward and his Ramsgate side are delighted with the season so far and hope to make the play-offs after a promising start to life in the Ryman Premier League

Classy Rams put league leaders to the sword

FOOTBALL

■ BY GLENN PEARSON

Ramsgate 2-0 Chelmsford City

JIM WARD'S Ramsgate pulled off a shock win over league leaders Chelmsford to put them back in contention for a play-off place.

Ward had tipped Chelmsford for promotion at the start of the season and was prepared for a tough game at the Southwood Stadium.

The Rams went into the game on the back of three defeats, while Chelmsford have been in good form, winning four of their last five games.

However, an overhead kick from the returning Stuart Vahid and a header for Warren Schulz gave Ramsgate all three points and put them fifth in the Ryman Premier League.

A delighted Ward said: "They say the second season is always the hardest, but already we are in the top third of the league."

"This league is really superb. Every team we play against have different qualities and we make sure we know all about them. You often play against ex-football league managers, and I really enjoy pitting my wits against them."

"The play-offs are the target and that would be an amazing season for a club like Ramsgate in the Ryman Premier League."

Both teams had good chances in the first half, but it was the Thanet side who went into half-time with the advantage.

Chelmsford keeper Danny Gay appeared to fumble Shaun Welford's long throw right into the path of Vahid.

The striker, who has been away for a month's loan at Sittingbourne, hit an overhead kick from the edge of the box to notch his first of the season for Rams.

Shortly after the break, City had a chance to level the score when Nick Davis was penalised for a challenge on Dean Palmer just outside the area, but Stuart Ainsley curled his free-kick wide.

Rams recovered and five minutes later almost extended their lead when Welford's cracking shot was blocked by keeper Gay and Welford couldn't quite get to the second ball.

However, on 65 minutes Rams extended their lead when Schulz headed in Dan Dolton's free-kick.

Chelmsford should have pulled one back in the 67th minute when they were awarded a penalty for Sam Vallance's challenge on Bertie Brayley, but Paul Wilkerson saved Jeff Minton's spot-kick with his foot.

Ward has more players returning to his squad but singled out the returning Vahid as an important part of his attack.

He said: "Stu Vahid has been on loan for a month. He never had a pre-season so he needed the games. Steve Lovell at Sittingbourne offered them, but now he comes back to us and will be an important part of my squad."

• The Rams were in action against Hastings United last night. For a full match report log on to www.yourthanet.co.uk.

Missed chances leave Cliftonville with a draw

BLOCKED: James Perks tries to find a way past the Russets defence

CLIFTONVILLE were left to rue a host of missed chances as they conceded a late equaliser in an entertaining game against Marden Russets

Ville played a Russets side full of confidence after being unbeaten in five games.

The game started well, with midfield keeping possession and passing the ball about with a fluidity not often seen in this league.

Joseph Sach, the dynamic central midfielder, spread the play well, while James Provins and James Perk provided useful support.

After a spell of prolonged pressure, Sach played the ball through to Burton, who, with an expert dummy, split the defence, allowing Mark Tiley to tap the ball home.

Half-time came and went, but the pace

HOCKEY

Cliftonville 1 Marden Russets 1

of the game remained as Ville kept possession well.

Some poor finishing and lack of creativity prevented Ville doubling the advantage and after each miss Marden grew in confidence.

With 10 minutes left, scrappy defending from the otherwise rock-solid defence left two opposition players free to attack the goal and they drew level.

Even though Cliftonville remained dominant, there was no way through the resurgent Marden team and the final whistle was welcomed by the opposition.

Elsewhere, the second string won a cracking game against Anchorians 4-3.

The deadlock was broken by Ville's John Lambert, who converted a short corner. Within a few minutes, Anchorians drew level before taking the lead from a penalty corner.

Anchorians capitalised on poor defensive errors to make it 3-1.

Steve Burton reduced the deficit to 3-2 and with just two minutes remaining, he finished again to bring the scores level.

As the umpires checked their watches for the final whistle, Paul Cobb drove forward one last time and his shot was perfectly deflected into the corner of the net for a last-second win and much celebration.

Gate hit three but fail to secure win

FOOTBALL

■ BY YOURTHANET REPORTER

Heybridge Swifts 3-3 Margate

MARGATE'S long-awaited win over Heybridge Swifts still eludes them after an entertaining score draw at Scraley Road.

Gate have been involved in a number of high-scoring games and already scored 37 goals in all competitions so far this season.

The worrying thing for manager Robin Trott is that his side have also conceded 33 this season, and despite scoring three goals away from Hartsdown Park again the Gate still did not come away with all three points.

It started well for Gate when on 27 minutes Jimmy Jackson's free-kick was met by defender Dan Young, who volleyed the ball into the top corner for his first goal of the season.

However, within seven minutes, Swifts levelled when Sean Marks equalised for the home side.

By the half-time break, Margate found themselves 2-1 down when Stafford Browne converted from the penalty spot following a Jay Saunders foul.

On 60 minutes, it was the Blues' turn to equalise, when striker Rob Haworth headed in another Jackson cross.

Ten minutes later, Margate took the lead for the second time when a third Jackson free-kick was flicked on by Saunders, and Haworth was on hand to smash the ball into the back of the net for his seventh goal of the season.

Unfortunately for the Blues, they were unable to hang on to all three points as with 10 minutes remaining Ian Wiles made up ground on the right wing before firing in a wonderful strike from 30 yards.

Margate progressed into the next round of the FA Trophy last Tuesday night with a deserved 3-1 win over Aylesbury.

AT LAST: Wanderers recorded a first win of the season

Wanderers record first win in exhilarating style

THANET WANDERERS romped to their first league win of the season with a great victory over Basingstoke at St Peters.

Thanet displayed good handling skills and excellent defence to show their home fans what they had been missing this season.

The game started a bit scrappy, but Basingstoke were awarded a scrum 10 metres from Thanet's line.

After some quick passing, Basingstoke went over for a try, which was converted to make the score 7-0 after eight minutes.

Thanet scored their first try as Peter Macaulay broke the line and his pass led to Matt McArdle going over in the corner – Pieter Slabbert duly kicked the conversion.

Slabbert added a further three points after Basingstoke were penalised for being off-side.

Basingstoke levelled after 25 minutes with a penalty.

Thanet replied when Stuart Plumridge retrieved the ball from a drop pass and broke Basingstoke's line to run in a 20m try – it was converted again by Slabbert before Aurelien Decerf scored his first try in a Wanderers shirt.

Tom Ash managed to get a pass off to Aurelien, who ran in a textbook try. Slabbert slotted the conversion to make it 24-10.

Basingstoke started the second half strongly, but it was Thanet who scored again when McArdle ran 50m to score Thanet's fourth try of the game, which was converted by Slabbert.

Thanet's powerful forwards pushed 60m downfield before the ball was fed to Yan N'Dong, who sprinted 30m to score.

Slabbert slotted home the conversion, leaving the score at 38-10.

Basingstoke scored again, but it was not enough to deny Thanet a deserved win.

• Wanderers travel to Worthing next week (kick-off 2.30pm).
